PRESS RELEASE

For Release: November 16, 2008

The Honolulu Quarterback Club, celebrating 62 Years, is pleased to announce the following Guest Speakers for their weekly luncheon, Monday, November 17th., at the Pagoda Hotel, International Ballroom beginning at 11:30 AM with a program starting at 12 Noon:

Brian Kajiyama - Academic Manager - University of Hawaii Football Warriors -

Brian is a PhD student at the University of Hawaii in the Special Education Department. A longtime "Warrior" fan, Brian has earned his way to bring an official part of the team. Last season, Brian held the position of Graduate Assistant Coach and assisted the defensive line, including preparing scouting reports and breaking down game film. Currently, Brian holds the position of "Warriors" Academic Manager and assists in maintaining the team's Verizon Academic Center, which is the computer lab for the football players. He has the responsibility of making sure that all the players take care of business off the field, including attending classes. Brian is a graduate of the University of Hawaii with a bachelor's degree in liberal studies and earned a Masters Degree in education in guidance and counseling. He is currently working on his PhD in exceptionalities from special education. Brian will share his experiences being involved with games, the players and the coaches at the University. He will entertain questions.

Dave Reardon - Feature Sports Writer - "Further Review" - Honolulu Star-Bulletin

- Dave will be covering the debut of this season University of Hawaii Basketball "Rainbows". He will give us a full-report on both Friday's and Sunday's Games. He also will report on the finals of Hawaii Winter Baseball. Dave is a graduate of Pearl City High School and attended Northwestern and the University of Hawaii. A professional sports writer for over 30 years, Dave has worked for the Honolulu Star-Bulletin, the Gainesville Florida Sun and the Honolulu Advertiser. He currently is a feature sports writer and writes the "Further Review" Column for the Star-Bulletin. Dave will take questions from the floor on any Hawai'i sports topics.

Matt Anderson - Former Professional Athletic Trainer - Various Sports Franchises

- Matt is makes his first appearance at the HQC on Monday. During his professional career he was an Athletic Trainer for the Phoenix Suns during the years that the team was in the NBA Finals and worked with the Phoenix Coyotes of the NHL and the Arizona Cardinals of the NFL. He began his 20 year career in training athletes at Punahou and finished with the Arizona Rattlers of Arena Football. His greatest accomplishment was with the Arizona Rattlers as the first Athletic Trainer to develop a training program that became the best program in Arena Football. His training contributed to the teams success in participating in 5 Arena Bowls and winning 2 Arena Football Championships. Currently, he is working on becoming a Physician Assistant in orthopedic and currently resides in Phoenix Arizona. Does Matt's last name sound familiar? Matt is the son of James Anderson, the treasurer of the Quarterback Club.
